ALFRED RUSSEL WALLACE — A LIFE STORY —

Alfred Russel Wallace was one of Britain's greatest naturalists, and was known as a great explorer; collector; author; philosopher; anthropologist and spiritualist.

His most famous discovery was that of Evolution, co-publishing the theory of evolution by natural selection with Charles Darwin in 1858.

Born in Usk, on the 8th January 1823, Wallace moved to Hereford when he was 5 years old.

His formal education ended when he was just a teenager; so when his father took up a job in the local library, he used this as an opportunity then to educate himself.

Wallace had to find employment, so joined his brother William as a surveyor in Neath in 1841. There was not always enough work for both brothers and so Wallace found himself with a lot of spare time. He used this time to further his self education and scientific pursuits.

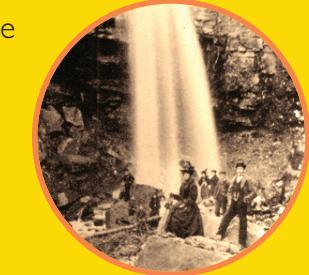

Wallace's interest in the natural world grew extensively and he had an insatiable desire to learn and discover, propelling him to become one of the great evolutionary thinkers of the 19th century.

But where did it all begin? Wallace spent a mere 5 years of his life in Neath, however it was an important time and one he believed to be the turning point in his life.

Wallace would later attribute his stay in Neath to the development of his fascination and knowledge of nature and the natural world.

The Alfred Russel Wallace trail allows you to follow in these famous footsteps and see the landscape that inspired him.

“...I cannot call to mind a single valley that in the same extent of country comprises so much beautiful and picturesque scenery, and so many interesting special features, as the Vale of Neath.”

ALFRED RUSSEL WALLACE — STORI EI FYWYD —

Alfred Russel Wallace oedd un o naturiaethwyr gorau Prydain ac roedd yn adnabyddus fel fforiwr, casglwr, awdur, athronydd, anthropolegydd ac ysbrydegydd hynod.

Ei ddarganfyddiad enwocaf oedd esblygiad a chyhoeddodd ei theori esblygiad drwy ddetholiad naturiol ar y cyd â Charles Darwin ym 1858.

Ganwyd ym Mrynbuga ar 8 Ionawr 1823, a symudodd i Henffordd pan oedd yn 5 oed.

Daeth ei addysg ffurfiol i ben pan oedd yn ei arddegau, felly pan gafodd ei dad swydd yn y llyfrgell leol, achubodd ar y cyfle hwn i addysgu ei hun.

Roedd yn rhaid i Wallace gael swydd ac felly aeth i ymuno â William, ei prawd, fel syrfewr yng Nghastell-nedd ym 1841. Nid oedd digon o waith i'r ddua prawd ac felly roedd gan Wallace lawer o amser hamdden. Roedd yn defnyddio'r amser hwn i wella'i addysg a'i diddordebau gwyddonol.

Bu cynydd aruthrol yn niddordeb Wallace yn y byd naturiol yn fawr ac roedd ganddo awydd annwall i ddysgu a darganfod, gan beri iddo fod yn un o feddylwyr esblygiad gorau'r 19eg ganrif.

Ond ble dechreuodd y daith? 5 mlynedd yn unig y treuliodd Wallace yng Nghastell-nedd, ond roedd yn amser pwysig ac un oedd, yn ei gred ef, yn drobwynt ei fywyd.

Yn ddiweddarach, dywedodd Wallace fod ei arhosiad yma wedi datblygu ei ddiddordeb a'i wybodaeth am natur a'r byd naturiol.

Mae Llwybr Alfred Russel Wallace yn eich galluogi i ddilyn yn yr olion traed adnabyddus hyn a gweld y dirwedd a'i hysbrydolai.
